WELCOME TO SUFFOLK DOWNS

A day of thoroughbred horse racing at Suffolk Downs is a fun and exciting experience. We extend a special welcome to those who are new to the sport or are new to Suffolk Downs. This easy-to-read guide includes basic information that will help make your visit to Suffolk Downs most rewarding.

ENTERING THE TRACK

There are three entrances to the track. As you look at the building from the parking lot, there is one Grandstand entrance at the left end and another Grandstand entrance on the right end. The Clubhouse entrance is on the far right end of the building, closest to the valet parking area. All entrances are wheelchair accessible. For elevator access, use the Clubhouse entrance.

BUYING A PROGRAM

Suffolk Downs racing programs are available for purchase inside any of our entrances. The program will serve as your guide to wagering on the day's races. For each race, the horses are listed in numerical order. When placing a wager, you will need to use the numbers assigned to each horse. Information on the horses, jockeys and trainers competing in each race is provided. The program also contains comments and selections from Suffolk Downs racing analysts. A detailed lesson on how to read the program is included inside the program.

GETTING A SEAT

There are a variety of seating options to choose from, most of which are available at no additional charge. All areas provide easy access to betting windows and self-service wagering terminals.

Clubhouse Reserved Box Seats offer a fantastic view of the racetrack along with some privacy for you and your group. They also serve as a good "home base" for your group for the day. They are accessible from the second floor. On major racing days, there is a nominal charge for these seats. Otherwise, they are available at no extra cost on a first-come, first-serve basis.

Located just above the Box Seats is the Terrace dining room. The Terrace provides the same wonderful view of the racetrack, along with a full-service fine dining experience. More information on the Terrace and our other dining options is included later in this guide.

Next to the Terrace is the Grandstand. Individual Grandstand seats are also available for a nominal charge on major racing days, but are usually open to all fans on a first-come, first-serve basis.

If you prefer to watch the races outside, there is plenty of bench seating available, along with a number of picnic tables, available at no extra charge. The outdoor area also allows you to view the horses in the paddock prior to each race. Some people like to see the horses before making their wagers.

There is plenty of outdoor standing room to watch the races as well.

WATCHING THE RACES

You can watch the races from any of the seating areas mentioned previously, as well as on TV monitors located throughout the building. Some people prefer to use binoculars to get a better view of the races, especially when the horses are on the far side of the track.

LEARNING THE BASICS OF WAGERING

Wagering on thoroughbred racing is fun and easy to learn. Here's how it works. When you place a bet, you are actually betting against other fans. This is called pari-mutuel wagering. The track has no financial interest in who wins the race. The odds are automatically calculated by the amount of money wagered on each horse by the betting public. The odds determine how much your horse will pay if he or she wins. The odds that appear in your program are called the "morning line" odds and are established by the track handicapper prior to the start of wagering. Once the wagering begins, the odds change constantly until the start of the race. As a result, final odds may differ from what they were when you placed your wager. You can keep track of the odds and other useful information on the tote board located on the track infield or on TV screens throughout the building.

PLACING A WAGER

Once you've chosen your horses and your wagers, go to any betting window or self-service wagering terminal and place your bet. If you go to a window, tell the clerk the following information in this order:

1. The name of the racetrack and the number of the race that you would like to wager on.
You need to clarify which racetrack because we accept wagering on simulcast races from tracks all over the country.
2. The amount of your wager
3. The type of wager
4. The program numbers of your horse(s)

For example: "Suffolk Downs race 3. I'd like $2 to win on number 4."

If you go to a self-service wagering terminal, follow the on-screen instructions and enter the same information as above on the touch screen.

Always remember to check your tickets before you leave the window or self-service terminal.

READING THE TOTE BOARD

FINDING OUT HOW MUCH YOU WON

Once a race is over and is declared “official,” the payouts are posted on the tote board and on TV monitors. Always hold on to your tickets until the results of the race become official.

COLLECTING YOUR WINNINGS

Once a race is declared official, if you have a winning ticket, you may go to any betting window to collect your winnings. You may cash your winning tickets at any point during the day. Many people choose to cash their tickets at the same time that they go to a window to place their next wager. If you prefer to use a self-service wagering terminal, you may insert your winning ticket and use it to either make additional wagers or receive a credit voucher, which may be redeemed for cash at any betting window.
